Community Needs Survey on Mental Health and Addiction Services in Franklin County

The Alcohol, Drug and Mental Health (ADAMH) Board of Franklin County connects Franklin County community members to affordable and high-quality mental health and addiction services. ADAMH is inviting all members of the Franklin County community to complete a community-wide survey about the greatest needs around mental health and addiction services. ADAMH also has a survey for those who provide social services to Franklin County residents (providers may complete both the community-wide survey and the provider survey).

All respondents will remain anonymous. Surveys will remain open through November 30, 2020.
